The algorithm of pharmacist's actions when choosing an OTC drug

Find out for the treatment of which symptom the medication is purchased

Determine whether the patient has symptoms of the disease which requires the obligatory examination of a doctor

Determine the pharmacotherapeutic group of drugs for the treatment of a specific symptom

Choose the optimal medication for the patient among the drugs of a definite group

Give the information about the selected drug to the patient